CHALLENGE

In the new Innovations Age we no longer look for the "next big thing" - it happens every day. The new challenge: where to find all the top talents that can actually create all these new concepts, who bring them to market, who will support them, and who can even find new ways to handle all the rapid development we are facing.

THE CONCEPT

We organize workshops and initiate very individual projects together with companies, seeking top talents and create new ways to attract them around the world.

In parallel we are organizing special talent experiences for those who look for all new opportunities.

And we will work on idea hacking.
