One Space – One World

Building the infrastructure for going global

Global Infrastructure

For our young entrepreneurs as well as corporate innovation labs, it is important to have a global infrastructure they can quickly roam the world with little to no bureaucracy. We are looking for partnerships with great co-working spaces, fully understanding the needs of entrepreneurs and the experience to meet their expectations. Those partner co-working spaces shall also become a attractive space for investors, mentors or corporate innovation labs to meet the ecosystem.

The selected partner spaces will also become the local hotspots for the World Innovations Forum.

Partnerships

Most of the best coworking spaces are local, with no intention to grow and risking their established pole position and quality. On the other hand, highly mobile entrepreneurs struggle to easily find a quality coworking space in other countries which are similar in service to what they experience in their home base. The partnerships shall become an important piece of the puzzle to go global.

OBJECTIVE

Making it easy for all innovation stakeholder to find an office space wherever they go. Providing our members, a program that they find a well supportive infrastructure in each of these locations to be nearly uninterrupted productive.

Member Collaboration Projects

Coworking Space Identification

Looking for coworking spaces which we should collaborate with and putting a selection process in place.

Collaborating with coworking spaces around the world to identify the most sought after needs from entrepreneurs when it comes to office space and incubation. We should do the same for corporate innovation labs who need to leave the protective and overly organized corporate offices to start something new.

Making agreements with the selected organizations to start right away.

Making it even easier to start going global

And we should also create a program how we could help coworking spaces to further develop their offerings based on the needs of their renters from around the globe – learning from all others.

Cross Reference Program

There is a directly related and interwoven program for entrepreneurs called “Entrepreneurs Explorer Program”. This program is heavily supporting the idea of the One Space – One World program. Participating partners will benefit, among many other things, from the One Space – One World initiative.
