Self-Propelled Economy Advisory

Creating an innovation based self-propelled economy

AUDIENCE

Leading Government Officials

CHALLENGE

Decades have past where enormous amounts of development aid flew into the less developed countries. Many countries got used to get donations, a few others however emerged into fast developing or emerging countries, several turned from donation taking countries in donation giving countries and quickly raised above others. In all of the fast-emerging nations, strong and growing entrepreneurship has been the accelerator. Today, we see any nation can evolve to an emerging and developed country within a reasonable time frame.
